Projects

WorkTree

4-day sprint project

A web app for booking office spaces by day, built for freelancers, student groups, and small businesses needing temporary workspace. I designed the entire application and fully developed the dashboard, including its layout, structure, and logic. Using JavaScript, I built role-based dashboards for two user types (owner and renter) and implemented a booking system where owners can approve or reject requests.

DealHuntr

2-week team project

A web app that collects supermarket deals in the Netherlands and lets users compare prices across stores. Users can create a shopping list and track how much they save. I designed the UI and handled all front-end work, including CSS components, transitions with JavaScript, and app structure. Built in a team of 3 from scratch in 2 weeks.
